MEXICAN SECTION HAND SLAIN

Juan Ramos, a Mexican section hand, was shot Sunday afternoon by an Italian at Natchez siding, near Deeth, and was rushed to Elko for treatment, but he died 15 minutes after arrival. The Italian escaped. The Mexican, armed with a big knife, pursued the Italian for some distance. The Italian ran to the bunkhouse and obtained a shotgun. Turning upon the Mexican he fired pointblank, the heavy charge entering the man's stomach, disemboweling him.—Elko Independent.

For the first time in the history of Lovelock the town census is being taken, at the instigation of local merchants, who decided to get authoritative information concerning the place and those who live here.—Lovelock Review-Miner.

MANHATTAN MAN IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

WALLACE McNEIL AND MRS. A. J. WILSON SUFFER INJURIES WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER

Wallace McNeil, a prominent mining man of Manhattan, last Tuesday evening near Lida, suffered a broken rib while attempting to teach Mrs. A. J. Wilson, wife of the proprietor of the Goldfield hotel, how to handle an auto. Mrs. Wilson suffered several bruises. The accident occurred when the Ford left the road and turned over, pinning the occupants underneath. McNeil, while fastened beneath the car, managed to lift the machine enough to enable Mrs. Wilson to crawl out. She walked to the nearest house and summoned help.

HEROISM OF SISTER

lar attire and succeeded in seizing the younger girl, who clung with the desperation of a drowning person. Twice the locked forms of the sisters rose to the surface before some men on the beach realized what was happening. One went to the rescue and, after a gallant struggle, managed to shove Elizabeth out to shallow water. The sad news was conveyed to the parents, who had reached a point twenty miles away, and nothing could be done except to search for the remains.

Arrangements had been made for the return journey, as Mr. Fitzgerald had been advised by Charles Ducheneau, auditor of the Belmont, that a couple of relief cars had been sent out. The instructions were to wait at Bodie. The relief car from the Belmont was first to arrive at 5 a. m., half an hour after the body had reached that point. The family remained to rest, while the funeral car came through to Tonopah with the body.

Interment will be in the local cemetery, with the intention of removing later to Minneapolis, where another child is buried.

Postmaster J. J. McQuillan tells the story, which he received at first hand, developing interesting and thrilling details as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald, accompanied by Tommy, left camp Tuesday morning for the Hammond ranch, some twenty miles away, to procure provisions and get the mail. The girls were left alone and were amusing themselves on the bank, as it was too cold to go into the water. Geraldine was the only one who was brave enough to venture out in a bathing suit. She was standing in the shallow water when the elder sister advised her to submerge to prevent taking a chill. Then Geraldine kept creeping out on the beach until she came to a point where the other girls saw her waist deep apparently jumping up and down and crying 'I'm drowning.' For a moment it was taken as a joke, but in a flash the truth dawned on Elizabeth, who rushed into the water, fully clothed, and made an attempt to save her sister.

"My daughter, Mary, followed and little three year old Alice began screaming. An old man from California named Stewart, who was nearest, ran out, throwing off his shirt as he ran, but he was handicapped by a pair of long riding boots. He dashed into the lake where the girls were struggling and managed to grab Elizabeth, who had gone down twice, and pushed her to the bank, where she was caught by Mrs. Joe Smith, of Laws, Cal., who rushed into the lake and took Elizabeth ashore. Stewart, after rescuing Elizabeth, seized Geraldine, who clutched the old man in a convulsive grip that meant death to both. Stewart shook her loose and as the body sank, but failed to gain another hold on the child. Mrs. Smith, realizing the dreadful death, ran over a mile just as she came out of the lake in her wet clothing to reach a telephone to notify the parents at Hammond's. The latter came back as fast as the machine could carry them, the mother almost crazed, as the message simply stated that 'Baby is drowned.'

"Work on the power company's dam in the vicinity was stopped and the men began diving for the body in

GOOD NEWS FROM WEST END MINE

RAISE STARTED IN WINZE DISCLOSES HIGH GRADE OF MAGNITUDE

A most interesting development is taking place in the West End mine. On the level from the 660 foot point in the winze a raise has been started on high grade ore, which has been opened for seven or eight feet without reaching the hanging wall. There is considerable virgin territory ahead.

In West End territory proper stopping is in progress, both east and west of the shaft. Development work is being carried forward on the third and fifth levels and intermediate. In the disputed territory the bulk of the ore is coming from the 600 level and winzes therefrom. Development is also progressing from these winzes. During the past week no material change has taken place in the tonnage of ore produced or the values.

MIDSUMMER PARTY IN HONOR OF VISITING SISTER

One of the most artistic and enjoyable afternoon parties of the midsummer season was given yesterday at the home of Mrs. George Lewis in honor of her sister, Mrs. Meads, of Colton, California.

The house was beautifully decorated in American beauty rose buds and kewpies, the idea being carried out in the tally cards and dainty refreshments.

The first prize, a beautiful hand crocheted opera bag, was won by Mrs. Galvin. The second prize, won by Mrs. Paul Maguire, was a hand made Irish linen handkerchief with an edge of tatting.

Mrs. Kearns, who had the least luck during the afternoon, was awarded the consolation prize—a kewpie.

Among those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Lewis were Mesdames H. R. Fowler, J. W. Reymann, P. Maguire, Elbert O'Connell, Gene hope of recovering it in time to resuscitate the child. Their efforts were unavailing, as the water was so cold they could not see after reaching a depth of 15 or 20 feet. Then they started to drag the lake, without success. The accident happened at 10:40 a. m. Night came on and a water telescope was formed by cutting the bottom out of an iron bucket, in which was fitted an automobile light, but nothing could be seen until gradually the shape of a hole appeared and then the searchers sent down hooks into this depression and found the body.

"Tom Lansborough was near the lake with a friend named Dr. Likens and they took the body to Bodie, where it was transferred to the Whitney car and forwarded in care of the Tonopah drivers, the family following in the Bradshaw car."

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the Catholic church at 10 o'clock, when solemn requiem mass will be celebrated, followed by interment in the local cemetery.

PROHIBITIONISTS PUT ON GLOVES

WILD SCENES IN THE ST. PAUL CONVENTION ON ADOPTION OF PLATFORM

(By Associated Press.) ST. PAUL, July 20.—Efforts to adopt the prohibition platform caused a scene of the wildest confusion in the party convention. Efforts to force adoption met with heated resistance, but those who advocated immediate action finally prevailed. Chairman Patton vainly pounded for order.

The platform carries a strong declaration for nation wide prohibition and woman suffrage, anti-preparedness, peace planks, reciprocal trade relations with foreign nations and a federal trade commission.

"Mexico needs not a conquered, but a good Samaritan. The Democrats blundered and the Republican evaded the responsibility," declares the platform on the Mexican situation.

MONARCH LOOKING VERY PROMISING

MANAGER SMITH SAYS INDICATIONS ARE THAT PAY ORE IS CLOSE AT HAND

From indications today it appears that a new ore body is about to be opened in the extreme western zone of this district. The Monarch-Pittsburg is just entering a vein on their 1000 level, 800 feet west of their shaft.

This new find is a vein whose foot-wall is the Extension breccia and hanging wall West End rhyolite. Thus far but two rounds have been blasted and the management prefers not to give out any details until a sufficient amount of development has been done to insure its permanency. However, it is almost sure of developing into an ore body, since the formation is ideal and the further fact that surveys of the strike of the great "Murray" vein in the Tonopah Extension show it to project into the Monarch ground at about this point.

When seen by a representative of the Bonanza, Superintendent Branch Smith said: "Yes, we have a very good showing and I should not be at all surprised if the Monarch did not shortly enter the producing ranks. At any rate, we are very hopeful and if information counts for anything, and we, who have given the matter considerable study, know that it does, success is assured. July 22 is the fourth anniversary of the birth of the Monarch. Since that time over 10,000 feet of development work has been done."

BARNEY OLDFIELD VISITING TONOPAH

ONLY TWO MORE RACES TO CROWN HIS LIFE WITH EXCITEMENT

"Two more races for me and then I am through with the speed game," said Barney Oldfield to the Bonanza at the Mispah hotel this morning. "I will enter the Grand Prize and Vanderbilt Cup races at Santa Monica in November and after that I will settle down to business and home life in Los Angeles."

Mr. Oldfield is on his way from Chicago, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Milwaukee. They left Chicago on June 27 and pursued a devious course. They first went up to Mr. Brown's ranch in Wisconsin, where they spent a few days. Thence their course led them to Billings and Cody. They entered the Yellowstone park at the east and came out the southern gateway. They traversed the Jackson's Hole country, which had hitherto been visited only by two or three other auto parties. Then they crossed the Teton range, reaching Salt Lake City, and continued west by the Lincoln highway and the Midland route. From Ely on the Midland trail they encountered some hardships by getting off the road. They left Horton's last evening at 8:30 o'clock and did not arrive in Tonopah until 7 o'clock this morning. The desert in the section of Twin Springs during the early dawn was quite chilly, necessitating the party to huddle for wood and build a fire to warm their bodies.

The party left this afternoon for Goldfield and from there they go to Los Angeles. They are traveling in a Packard twelve which has covered 40,000 miles.

JUDGE BRISSELL SERIOUSLY ILL IN SACRAMENTO

A message was received yesterday by George Brissell telling of the serious illness of his father, Judge Brissell, one of Tonopah's favorite old timers. Mr. Brissell, who is residing in Sacramento, was operated upon twice for strangulated hernia. He is now at the Sisters' hospital in Sacramento. Owing to the patient's age little hope is held for his recovery.

PLATT DECLINES TO PARTICIPATE

The following letter from Sam Platt explains itself in connection with the scandal created by two candidates sitting on the bench to decide a case affecting their political interest:

To the Hon. The Supreme Court of the State of Nevada, Carson City, Nev.:—Your invitation to the law firm of which I am a member to act as amicus curiae in the matter of the proceeding to test the constitutionality of the present election law has been referred to me for reply. Aside from professional and political engagements, which make my presence in other portions of the state imperative, I submit the following:

I am an active candidate for the nomination for United States senator before the next Republican State convention, and as such am directly and intimately interested in the matter before the court. Whatever decision may be reached will have a direct bearing upon my candidacy.

Further, I have openly requested one of your honorable members, who is likewise an active candidate for United States senator, to join with me in a gentlemen's agreement to submit our candidacies to the people through a direct primary. In this I have publicly proclaimed my sentiments in favor of a direct primary and against the present law, now before you for interpretation. My direct interest in the result and my well known opposition to the present law preclude me from serving impartially as amicus curiae. I am therefore constrained, for myself and for the firm, respectfully to decline your invitation.

Very respectfully, SAMUEL PLATT, For Platt & Sanford.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The atmosphere of warm scented nights, of tinkling music, of deeds of daring to win a lady's glance, scenes of intense hate and strong passion, are all blended in a fascination that entrances in the Paramount production to be seen at the Butler this evening. The story of the burning love of the Spanish maid for a handsome American stars Lenore Ulrich, of "Bird of Paradise" fame, who is entrancingly beautiful as the high-born Castilian made poor by the unsettled times. An American is about to die. The firing squad lined the far side of the newly dug grave and, scornful the eye bandage the American faced his death. Thus he would have died but for the great love he had awakened in "The Heart of Paula." Paula, weak with the fatigue of her desperate striving, sprang to the American and shielded him from the leveled rifles. The price that she paid for his life is the strong theme of this dramatic and strangely told screen romance. The preliminary reel will be Pathé Weekly.

Tomorrow, "The Nation's Peril," a smashing big play of war in five big acts. U. S. Atlantic fleet sinking a ship by shell fire. Thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines.
